TERMS OF REFERENCE

THE SOUTH AFRICAN NATIONAL BIODIVERSITY INSTITUTE (SANBI) REQUIRES A QUALIFIED SERVICE PROVIDER ON AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT TO OFFER TWO (2) SCIENCE WRITING WORKSHOPS: ONE FOR POSTGRADUATE STUDENTS AND ONE FOR THE INTERNS, ANNUALLY, FOR THE PERIOD OF THREE (3) YEARS

QUOTATION NUMBER: Q9847/2023

1. Introduction and Background

Human Capital Development is a strategic focus for SANBI with the aim of attracting the youth to biodiversity careers and to build relevant technical skills in biodiversity professionals and technicians.

It is critical that our funded postgraduate students, and interns, are supported through their time at SANBI, to ensure they develop skills and advance their training using relevant tools to enable them to have productive internships as well as to produce scientifically robust theses and dissertations.

The capacity to publish their research, to communicate their research in popular literature and to write successful grant applications starts with acquiring sound writing practices.

We invite service providers to submit quotations for four (4) day writing workshops for 20 postgraduate students and 50 interns in two separate workshops, every year for the next 3 years.

The requirements of the service provider, as well as a suggested course layout, are outlined in the Tor.

2. Scope of work

The main areas to be covered in the science writing sessions are:

Workshop 1 for postgraduate students

- Research proposal design
- Understanding key concepts in research design and methodology
- Using project management principles in research
- Thesis writing
- The publication processes.
- Communicating with your supervisor - roles and responsibilities of students and supervisors

Workshop two for interns

- The publication process- popular articles/blogs vs peer reviewed process
- Professional communication when directly engaging the public (e.g., responses over I Naturalist or Facebook)
- Developing grant applications and funding proposals.
- Using project management principles in research.
- Non-English first language science students – the challenges
- Using a Personal and Professional Development Plan (PDP) to achieve goals.
- Mentor vs Line Manager/Supervisor vs Coach – roles and responsibilities

Both workshops should also include aspects of mental, emotional, and physical wellbeing and its importance as students and interns establish science careers.

The course should make provision for the completion of a product e.g., a blog, a popular article, a conference poster, postgraduate project proposal or draft paper at the end of the course.

3. Requirements

We require a service provider with previous experience with science writing training and knowledge of grant writing and thesis writing. As the participants will have various levels of qualifications (both undergraduate and postgraduate degrees) and varying years of experience, plenary sessions covering general topics as well as group work for more specific training will be required. Follow-up sessions for postgraduate students would be essential as part of the support in their first year of registration. This could be accomplished via MS Teams/Zoom and at a time convenient for both participants and service provider.

4. Mandatory documents required.

Potential Service Providers must submit the following documentation:

- Service providers must be registered on the Central Suppliers Database (CSD).
- A proof of valid letter of compliance issued by the Department of Labour.
- Service providers with one or more employees are required by law to contribute to the Compensation Fund. A valid letter of good standing certificate with COIDA is required. The Department of Labour should issue the certificate.
- Proof of Public Liability Insurance or proof of application.
- SBD forms (SBD 1,4 and 6.1) The Standard Bidding Forms (included in the bid documentation) must be completed and submitted with this proposal

Sufficient information must be provided to allow the evaluation panel to score bid points.
